

TUESDAY VOICES

If at the end of the day I can honestly say that I did the best I could
with what I had in the time that I had,
then nobody can expect anything more from me.
Not even myself

We wish our lives away, waiting for holidays.
Finishing Time's definitely the best.
We are the overworked, the underappreciated.
Although undervalued we are the Good Team.
We see everything, some good, some bad,
rarely time to debrief, just move from one crisis to the next.

We are the Invisibles, the Domestics.
Patients walk through us, the staff who do the least
and make the most, never know our names or what we do,
higher bands never touch our lower bands.

If you work in Endoscopy, Colonoscopy,
Or Cystoscopy, it doesn't matter what you do,
you'll always find yourself in a hole.

My feet ache and stretch through long days,
to make people better with my nursing care.
Money going down, pay stagnant, work mounting into mountains
but still here, doing my job through thick and thin.

If at the end of the day I can honestly say
that I did the best I could
with what I had in the time that I had,
then nobody can expect anything more from me.
Not even myself.
